

Just wanted to let you know that the choice of SuperBowl Half-time entertainment was the complete opposite of "entertainment." Not only was the show in very poor taste, it was a flagrant display of a lack of regard for families wishing to show the game to their children or to watch themselves. All performances (not just the Timberlake/Jackson "peep" show) were a slap in the face to all viewers with any decency not just families. Hopefully, there will be consequences to this type of "entertainment" now to prevent this in the future. Sincerely, Janice DuMont
